

RED LIGHTS

This morning I feel me little stranger.
Bad omen or nervousness? Rehearsing the lines, the ring on my suit, the heart out of control.

This is the time.
When you say yes, I'm sure it will be mine.

Driving to the place you said you loved me the first time.
I've never been so happy to be by your side.
I want to celebrate, I can already imagine.
The arrangements, the bottles, ours friends applauded.
Your picture on my wallet.

CHORUS: Chasing a dream, happiness within reach.
Sometimes without air, I thought about my speech.
Having his smile, I sighed: I am rich.
When you arrived, dragging all your attention.
Putting myself in detention, I didn't want an intervention.
The red dress, the eyes, the presence.
They even made the sun a secondary star.
So much commotion even being so far away.
Words and eyes sparkle, marry me.
I love you and it's just what I really know.
A great night like this, you are the queen of my chess.
Just say yes.

When you let go of my hand and said no.
September got dark and I lost the floor.
This cannot be the price, where the cameras are, this can only be a show.
You said you weren't ready, so I should let you go.
Few times I have been without an answer.

I said tell me a history, not that misery.
I not wish to you send me free.
You had everything I wanted to be.
Leaving me lost in the ocean of feelings, I knew I would freeze.

Running around the hall, I said don't go.
I saw the car coming and screamed no!
Why didn't I hold you before going through the door?
Again I was without the floor.

Looking in the car's rearview mirror, fear in my eyes.
I wished to go back in time.
To avoid this pain.
Even if it meant that you wouldn't be mine.

Chasing those red lights.

Wishing you were better.
Shadows were beginning to ground my eyes.
And everything I was behind.
I cursed this red lights for a million times.
I just wish you were by my side next fall.
Not tonight, the star that lights up my night, cannot become a scar.

CHORUS: Few hours ago, the moment was another.
Chasing a dream, happiness within reach.
Sometimes without air, I thought about my speech.
Having his smile, I sighed: I am rich.
When you arrived, dragging all your attention.
Putting myself in detention, I didn't want an intervention.
The red dress, the eyes, the presence.
They even made the sun a secondary star.
So much commotion even being so far away.
Words and eyes sparkle, marry me.
I love you and it's just what I really know.
A great night like this, you are the queen of my chess.
Just say yes.

I remember them saying: she lost a lot of blood.
Her dress was even more red.
I was out of breath and didn't know what to say.
The nurse says: one for parents, two for family.
I shake my head twice.
The operating room hall went as far as I went.
I kept waiting.
My eyes had no glow.
I was not ready to let you go.

CHORUS

Red Lights © 2022 by Isaac Gomes de Oliveira is licensed under Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International

Red Lights © 2022 by Isaac Gomes de Oliveira is licensed under Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International. To view a copy of this license, visit <https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/>